Coyotes Devour Body of Live Indian Infant

Mother In Drunken Stupor Loses Her Child From Wagon--Discovered Loss at End of Journey--Find Basket, Straps, Bones and Portion of the Head Left By Animals.

ELY, Nev., June 1.—The officers here are endeavoring to find a young Indian woman, who, as the result of drinking too much liquor, allowed her infant child to fall out of a wagon onto the desert and become devoured by coyotes. The officers hope to locate the mother of the unfortunate papoose and then locate the man who sold the liquor.

A few days ago a number of Indians from McGill came to Ely and while here became intoxicated. In the bunch was a young squaw who had a papoose strapped to her back. She found the baby in the way on her return trip to McGill and laid the baby, strapped in the basket, in the rear of the wagon.

No more attention was paid to it and there being no end gate in the wagon, the baby bounced out onto the desert.

Arriving at their camp the mother went to look for her papoose, but found it missing. She did not immediately return to look for it, but went to sleep along with the other Indians and the next morning they started out on a search for the missing child. Soon they located the remains of the basket. The willow work had been torn and gnawed and the buckskin covering had been torn to shreds. Near the basket were found a few broken bones of the baby and a portion of its head. It had been eaten alive by coyotes.

ROOM RENT DON'T APPEAL TO JIM HERALD

The case of the State of Nevada vs. James Herald, who is charged with battery, was called to the justice court this morning but on account of several witnesses not being present Judge H. H. Atkinson postponed the hearing until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Herald, it is said, was rooming at the home of Bell Grader and had failed to pay his room rent for the past month. Upon the presentation of the bill for "room rent due" by Mrs. Grader to Herald, it is alleged that Herald became abusive and struck the lady several times causing her to swoon. Mrs. Grader was in court this morning ready to appear against the defendant and stated that she would be on hand when the case was called Monday morning.

NEW FEATURE LAUNCHING BATTLESHIPS INAUGURATED

Recently Tried on Battleship Texas at Newport News--Secretary of the Navy Meyer Pleased With Success.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 1.—A new feature of launching of United States battleships was inaugurated when the battleship Texas slid down the ways at Newport News, Va., recently, has come to stay and will be a part of all future launchings. Hereafter when describing launchings of this kind, reporters will write:

"The trigger was released and the great ship slowly slid down the ways to the water."

What is a trigger? A trigger is a mechanical device which slips under the stern. The ways are greased with tons of tallow and everything is prepared for the launching. Then the trigger is pulled. The trigger is capable of holding back a weight equivalent to 600 tons. In the case of the battleship Texas the resultant force of the battleship resting on the ways and impelling it toward the water, was only 200 tons, so that there was no danger of accident or of the great ship entering the water before all preparations had been made.

Secretary of the Navy Meyer expressed himself as greatly pleased with the success of the new device and it will be used in launching the battleship New York. Saving the timbers which hold dreadnaughts in their "cradles" is now a thing of the past. There will be no tiresome waits, and launchings will be conducted with a strictly mechanical promptness.

across the Gulf from Key West to Galveston.

After repairs were made he continued his trip successfully. As a result of the accident, Vaniman admitted he will not try to cross the Atlantic in the Akron."

WILL HAVE BIG TIME IN THIS CITY

Several years ago, when the Gans-Nelson fight was pulled off at Goldfield, it was agreed by that city and Tonopah that each even year Tonopah was to have the Fourth of July celebration and the odd year Goldfield would celebrate and that the entire population of each city would always be on hand to patronize the doings of their sister town. This year Tonopah has been preparing for one of the largest celebrations ever pulled off in the grand old "Sage brush state."

Several days ago one J. H. Appleby, who by the way says he is contemplating entering the journalistic field in this city, gave the merchants here the assurance that Goldfield was heart and soul with us, for the celebration of the Nation's birthday. Last evening several automobile loads of Tonopah's most prominent business men went to Goldfield and appeared before the Goldfield Commercial association in order that their hearty cooperation could be secured. But not so, Clarice! The members of the gold camp's great booster club would not listen to our proposition for one minute. They were amazed that we, from the greatest gold and silver producing camp in the world, at the present time, should have the nerve to ask them to cancel their preparations for their Fourth of July celebration. They, on the other hand, asked us to celebrate on Labor day instead of the Fourth. Not for a minute would they consider our presentation of fair play.

During the evening Mr. St. Pierre who at one time came over to Tonopah with a train load of shop worn shoes to peddle to our townspeople, addressed the gathering and quoted the aforesaid Appleby as saying, "That Goldfield should have the Fourth of July celebration, and if it did, he would guarantee a special trainload of visitors from Los Angeles."

Well the boys came back home and are today planning to hold a celebration that will startle the entire universe. Among those who visited Goldfield last evening were: J. A. Sanders, D. J. Fitzgerald, C. J. Hasman, L. Gilroy, Letson Balfett, H. H. Bacon, Ralph Hussey, W. A. Shilling, Robert Prouty, Ed. Malley, J. A. Buchanan, J. C. Peck, G. L. Richards and Bob Richards. Several others were in the party but it was impossible to get their names.

A meeting of the general Fourth of July committee is called for tomorrow evening, at the offices of Harry Epstein, and all who can should make it a point to attend. The several committees will be appointed and preparations will be made to hold a celebration that has never been equalled. It is suggested that a world's championship drilling contest be held, also a world's championship broncho contest. A communication has been received from a moving picture concern asking for the privilege of taking pictures of the features that will be presented in this city on the Fourth, also the taking of the different underground workings of the richest mines in the world—TONOPAH. An aviation meet is also planned and hundreds of other stunts will be pulled off that will start the world to thinking that Tonopah is one real live place after all. We have got the goods now; it's up to us to advertise it.

OLD PIONEER RETURNS.

Lou Finney, one of the pioneers of Nevada and who has spent the greater portion of his life in Nye and Esmeralda counties, arrived from the Mojave mining region yesterday morning. The editor of the Bonanza has had the pleasure of the acquaintance and friendship of Mr. Finney for the past 25 years. With the exception of his silvery locks, which were a few years ago jet black, Lou Finney is the same genial, honest soul that he was when we were boys together. Mr. Finney is here on mining business.

MAIN STABBED BY M'GRAW OVER LOVE OF A WOMAN

Lured to Home of Woman and Made Victim of Knife Weilder---Cannot Account for the Assault.

Tonopah has had another cutting affray. This time it was over a woman who will, in all probability, be the chief witness for the state when the case is called for trial. From all accounts Mrs. Hazel Anderson has for sometime past anothered her affections on one John McGraw, who it is stated, received the aforesaid affection with open arms and gladly welcomed the same. Last evening while shopping Mrs. Anderson met an old friend named Robert Main, whom she invited to her house to spend the evening. Main, it is alleged, accompanied the woman to her residence and was relating his adventures to the fair one when without warning, one John McGraw, crawled through the window and with a large knife proceeded to stab him.

Dr. Grigsby was called to give medical aid to the injured man, and found that the victim had received an ugly gash in the right shoulder that made an incision five inches deep. The blow of the knife wielder was not well aimed for the knife struck one of the short ribs that caused the blade to enter the man's back at an angle. When questioned by a reporter of the Bonanza staff at the Miners' hospital this morning, Main spoke of the affair as follows:

"I was standing front of the Mizpah hotel last evening when Mrs. Anderson spoke to me and asked if I cared to accompany her to her new home and spend the evening there. I had no other place to go so accepted. As we were seated talking, I heard some one raising the front window, but paid no attention to the matter at the time. A moment later McGraw rushed into the room with a large knife in his hand flourishing it in a wild manner. I started for the door but before I could open it McGraw stabbed me in the back." When asked if he had ever met McGraw before, Main replied that he had not. The reporter visited McGraw who is incarcerated in the county jail, and asked him if he had any statement to make concerning last night's cutting affair. McGraw was very nervous and said: "I have nothing to say about the matter; it's a dirty case. Let the others do the talking."

McGraw has been charged with assault with intent to kill and will have his preliminary hearing Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

WOMAN KILLED OVER DIVISION OF A FENCE

REDDING, Calif., June 1.—William C. Landis, a merchant from Buckeye, has been placed in jail here charged with killing Mrs. W. C. Bradford. The pair quarreled over the division of a fence. Landis alleges that the woman threatened his life with a revolver, and claims he fired in self defense. Relatives of the dead woman declare she was unarmed at the time of the trouble.

R. L. Gardner, after spending yesterday in Goldfield returned to Tonopah today.

MANHATTAN WHITE CAPS FINISHES 1000 TON ORE RUN

Mushett-Wittenberg Lease Opens Good Vein of Ore--Looks Similar to the Kendall-Douglas.

Special to the Bonanza.

MANHATTAN, June 1.—The White Caps mine, after having almost completed its first 1,000-ton run of ore at the Associated mill, hardly shows the slightest diminution of the gold bearing stuff either on its dump or in the chutes. The dump is replenished every night by hoisting fifty or sixty tons and the same amount is hauled away to the mill by the Blaker teams during the daylight hours. The chutes are filled to capacity every minute of the time and the limit of the dump room is the only thing that holds down the hoisting capacity. Not the room, exactly, but during the day when half a dozen shovelers and wheelbarrow men are at work under the dump it is not considered safe and economical of labor to be hoisting ore.

The dump is on the steep side of the gulch and bulkheaded up so that the ore wagons stand their tail height below its base. By this arrangement planks are lain across and the ore run into the wagons thereon by wheelbarrows. Thus they are loaded rapidly, which is necessary in order to keep pace with the two six-horse teams of Doc Blaker, who in turn must make good time to hold up his end of moving the mill's capacity of fifty or sixty tons a day.

During the past week the east drift at something over 400 feet from the shaft, tapped a new ore shoot. It is low grade now, but a few feet more may bring it up to the White Caps valuation.

MANHATTAN, June 1.—What appears to be making into one of the big ore bodies of the camp has been opened during the past week by L. L. Mushett, manager of the Mushett-Wittenberg lease on the Manhattan Consolidated. It is on the 130-foot level and close to the big bonanza recently unearthed by Mushett. It was found by fault prospecting along the same fault plane at a contact that was opened in the drift.

The ore is very base, though it runs some free gold. Its extent and value cannot now be determined, though it appears like it may be twenty feet more in width and that it will easily average in the high milling grade. When first encountered a sample from eighteen inches went $90 and since then a sample from several feet averaged $36. Being so close to the other, which runs in the thousands, and in a direct line to the contact it is believed that these values will be low indeed to what it will go when it is fairly opened up.

It looks very similar to the Kendall-Douglas bonanza at the west end of the same claim.
